

My introduction to tracking was a little like my life philosophy, I jumped in and gave it a go! In July 2010 I was asked to assist in a trial and liked what I saw, the camaraderie, love of their dogs and the love of the sport. I especially liked how much the dogs loved tracking, regardless of their breed.

The very next week I packed up my 8yr Bull Terrier mix and explored the forest with him and my new found friends. I was not expecting the reaction I got from my 'old' boy. There is no way now I can refuse him something that he obviously thrived on. We entered our first tracking trial with less than two months of training under my belt and we passed, in spite of me!

So, jump in and give it a go. I hope you will be blown away with what your dog can do. I was.
